

Hi there. I was just reading the article on the BBC website re 'Dash to drop cash comes under review'. I was wondering if you had seen the 'smart kiosks' that Atam.com have launched? (they are based in Jersey, Chanel Islands). Their operating platform (Sentinel) is exceptional and could be of interest to you. By using their software/kiosks you can enable the 3 million customers in the UK who are reliant on cash to buy pre paid emv cards, existing card holders could also use the kiosks to replace / topup existing cards. Worth checking them out.
